New USERRA Military Reservist Regulations Compliance Deadline January 19, 2006

January 11, 2006 Briefing - Participate In Person or Via Telephone

December 19, 2005

Employers must comply by January 19, 2006 with new final regulations interpreting the employment and reemployment responsibilities that employers owe to military service members upon their return to civilian life under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act of 1994, as amended (USERRA). The new U.S. Department of Labor regulations appear in the Monday, December 19, 2005 Federal Register.

USERRA prohibits discrimination against past and present members of the uniformed services and establishes reemployment rights for service members who want to return to the jobs they held prior to service. The new regulations provide comprehensive guidance on the USERRA protections for the reemployment, seniority, promotion, health care benefits, pension and other employment and employee benefits rights for employees on leave for and returning to employment following periods of duty in the armed services. In addition to reviewing and updating their military leave-related employment and employee benefit practices for compliance with the new guidance, employers also will need to obtain and post a newly-updated notice that informs employees of their rights, benefits and obligations under USERRA.

In addition to reviewing their military leave practices in light of the final USERRA regulations published in the Federal Register on December 19, 2005, employers also should verify that their qualified pension and profit-sharing plan provisions are up-to-date with existing Treasury Department guidance about the coordination of USERRA's military leave protections with the Code's tax qualification rules, and previously issued Labor Department guidance concerning coordination of USERRA's military leave requirements with the requirements imposed by the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993.

Copies of the required notice, downloadable posters containing the notice, and the new regulations can be accessed at www.dol.gov/vets.

Attorney Cynthia Marcotte Stamer will conduct a complementary briefing on the new regulations on Wednesday, January 11, 2006 from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. in the Dallas office of Glast, Phillips & Murray, P.C. Participants attending in person or participating via telephone will receive practical information about the requirements that the new regulations impose on their employment and employee benefit practices including the interaction of these requirements with Federal family leave and other Federal rules. To register for the program, complete and return the accompanying registration form.

If you need help reviewing or updating your employment practices or employee benefit plans to comply with the new regulations, have questions about your military leave policies and practices or other human resources or employee benefit risks and practices, wish to suggest a topic for a future program or publication or wish to request other information or materials, please contact: Cynthia Marcotte Stamer, P.C., Member, Glast, Phillips & Murray, P.C., 2200 One Galleria Tower, 13355 Noel Road, LB 48, Dallas, Texas 75240.
